Mr. Henry Field has opened up a new lively stable business in Hartford and will soon be ready for business. He has secured a splendid new horse, which will be here in a few days and will run a regular transfer line from here to Beaver Dam. Mr. Field is a great gentleman, prompt and reliable and a brother when it comes to business. We bespeak for him a good patronage.

Last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock Mr. John Dodson, and Miss Mary Ambrose were married in the presence of a large congregation at Marvin's Chapel church by Rev. Roland. The bridesmaids were Misses M. Y. R. Ferguson and Miss O. Drake. Mr. Dodson is a nice and industrious young man, while Miss Ambrose is one of Ohio county prettiest young ladies. May their lives always be so bright as the sun that shone on their wedding day in the midst of the winter.

MEANS. THOMAS BROS. WILL IN A FEW WEEKS BEGIN THE ERECTION OF A SPLENDID TWO-STORY BRICK BUSINESS HOUSE TO BE LOCATED ON THE CORNER OF UNION AND MARKET STREETS AND IT WILL AFFORD THEM A LARGE ROOM FOR THE COMMODIOUS STOREHOUSE. THEY ARE THINKING SERIOUSLY OF CONVERTING THE PRESENT STORY INTO A TOWN HALL, TO BE USED FOR LOGS, ENTERTAINMENTS, SPEAKINGS AND VARIOUS GATHERINGS. THIS PROJECT IS VERY COMMENDABLE, FOR HARTFORD NEEDS AND WOULD WELL SUPPORT A LARGE ROOM FOR THIS PURPOSE.

Mr. W. M. Likens, editor of the Beaver Dam Observer, is desirous of securing the position of organizer for the Prohibitionists in Kentucky. Mr. Likens is an assiduous worker for the cause of Prohibition and no better man could be selected for the management of the forces in the State. He has done much for his party in this county and in the Fourth Congressional District and is a man of marked energy and popularity. By his personal efforts his party has secured many votes in the county and should be elected to supervise the interests of the Prohibitionists in this State, the efforts of that party will be successful.

A Most Successful Surgeon.
In the death of Dr. J. E. Pendleton at Hartford, the medical profession lost one of its brightest lights. It is hard to choose to live elsewhere than in little country town, where he would have been famous and he came as nearly up to that mark as any physician in the country without regard to the extent of his practice. In surgery he was an adept, and had performed more difficult and dangerous operations than any other country surgeon in the world. From every man's life by "setting" a broken neck to the minor operations of every day he was a master. He was a man of everything and his success was wonderful.

Resolutions.
Adopted by the Ohio County Medical Association upon the death of Dr. John E. Pendleton.
At a meeting of the Ohio County Medical Association, to take proper action in regard to the death of our co-laborer, Dr. John E. Pendleton, Dr. J. C. Martin, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Dr. J. E. Pendleton was born in Washington county, Ky., Sept. 1, 1848, and came to this county at about twenty years of age, studied medicine with his uncle, Dr. J. B. Berry; was graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Louisville in 1874, and located in Hartford to practice his profession. In 1877, he took a graduate course of lectures in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

"At the beginning of the late Civil War, he entered the Confederate Army as Captain, but later was Regimental Surgeon and Division Surgeon respectively, which positions he filled with great credit to himself and the cause. He was the founder and first President of this society, and a member of the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons of the United States and the Kentucky State Medical Society.

"Whereupon the President of the Society, Dr. P. D. Maddox, moved that a committee on resolutions, which were reported as follows:
"Whereas, it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from us a loved and much esteemed friend and brother, Dr. J. E. Pendleton, who was a man of great talents and a noble character, and for his devotion to the cause of medicine, and who was ever willing to lend his skill and ability to the members of his profession and the cause of humanity, and who was ever ready to give encouragement and aid to the struggling practitioner and patient, therefore be it

Resolved, that we deeply deplore the death of our much loved and honored, Dr. John E. Pendleton, which occurred on the 1st of January, 1914, and that we sustain a great loss in his removal from our midst to rest in peace. And that we sympathize with the family in their great and irreparable loss, and tender our sympathies to their bereavement.

"It is true that his demise was a loss to the medical profession, but it is a loss to the State. He was a man of high intellect, without a grain of egotism, and a man of high integrity. He was a man of high character and a man of high ability. He was a man of high spirit and a man of high courage. He was a man of high honor and a man of high integrity. He was a man of high character and a man of high ability. He was a man of high spirit and a man of high courage. He was a man of high honor and a man of high integrity.

"We, the undersigned, do hereby certify that the above resolutions were adopted by the Ohio County Medical Association, at a meeting held at Hartford, Ky., on the 10th day of February, 1914, and that the same were read and approved by the members of the Association, and that the same were duly recorded in the minutes of the Association.

JUDGE W. T. OWEN.

A Just Tribute to His Character by a True Friend.
The following is an extract from a communication to the Louisville Commercial:
In Kentucky we have borrowed our circuit court system directly from the English, and indirectly from the Jews. We have had this system ever since Kentucky was admitted as a State. Some of the ablest judges of the Kentucky Court of Appeals were Circuit Court Judges before their elevation to the bench of the highest tribunal in this State. Among the ablest judges who have been on the bench of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, before his elevation to the bench of that tribunal, was a Circuit Judge. The late Hon. Henry J. Stites had a very high regard for Judge Owen. He was a man of high intellect, without a grain of egotism, and a man of high integrity. He was a man of high character and a man of high ability. He was a man of high spirit and a man of high courage. He was a man of high honor and a man of high integrity.

THE OLD HUMDRUM.

McKinley Will Events His Enemies to Making a New Year.
Having disposed of Senator McKim's proposal to reopen European negotiations for a silver ratio by giving full permission to the attempt, the president, after the 4th of March, will call his extra session, and the old humdrum tariff debate will be brought out to be fought on the floor of the Senate.

The Democrats in congress should welcome the opportunity of renouncing their former and making battle against protective theories and against the taxation of the many for the benefit of the few.

Rebels Abandoned Campaign.
Hanna's Republican national committee organ in justice to make good the promise of the party, to the effect that St. Paul and elsewhere, whose confidence in Republican principles of progress has been seriously shaken, would probably be willing to take even "50 cent dollars" in settlement.
